

The Maupin House Speakers Bureau features: NANCY BOYLES

Available for customized school and district training or conference appearances!

About Nancy

Dr. Nancy Boyles is currently an associate professor in the Graduate Reading Program at Southern Connecticut State University where she teaches courses in developmental reading, writing instruction, and the administration and supervision of school literacy programs. Previously, she spent 25 years as a classroom teacher at various elementary grade levels. She was named Teacher of the Year in her district and was a semi-finalist for Connecticut Teacher of the Year. She received her doctorate in reading and language from Boston University.

Nancy provides professional development to many school districts, presenting workshops, modeling best practices, and coaching teachers. She also serves as a Senior Literacy Fellow with Cornerstone, a school reform initiative that supports the literacy needs of low-performing districts. Nancy served as a contributing editor for Learning Magazine and has published over 30 articles related to teaching.

Through the Maupin House Speakers Bureau, Nancy customizes professional development to fit the needs of her audience. See booking information below.
