

Good work, Georgia!
Watch that spelling... 85

March 7, 2005
Period 5

Caught 'ya Sentences #81-85

81 Monday, March 7, 2005 sub clause complex sen. → If they had run five steps further, new subject the miscreants might have escaped Dean Dread's eye. Dean Dread, however, moved
-2 quickly. interrupt.

82 Tuesday, March 8, 2005 long intro
Quicker than the blink of an eye, he had the malefactors by the back of their new speaker shirts. "You two hapscallions, come with me to my office. We need to investigate
-2 this incident," he said in a low, menacing voice. 2 adj.

83 Wednesday, March 9, 2005 Great job of note taking! +5
ABSENT jibilyently jered

84 Thursday, March 10, 2005 4-10
The class tormenters finally had been
-10 apprehended for something. <sup>10 can't count</sup> Further they
-2 might even be castigated and then suspended for their transgression.

85 Friday, March 11, 2005 interrupt.
letting off a stink bomb, after all,
was a major offender.
complex sen. When the putrescent smoke had
-1 been cleared, <sup>sub clause</sup> everyone congregated around Felicia Fey.